Foreword

In an attempt to implant in the heart of every Loughlin student an earnest desire to follow the path which will lead him to God, we have made vocations the theme of this year's Loughlinite. In choosing this theme, it is our purpose to make the student more aware of the fact, that, although all vocations lead to salvation, he can be happiest only in the one which God has chosen for him.

Therefore, we have interspersed throughout this collection of fond memories some ideas on the four basic vocations, viz. the priesthood, religious life, the married or single state. It is our sincere hope that these synopses will either give rise to a thoughtful interest on one of the four or revive half-forgotten ambitions, which will result in an ultimately happier and holier life under Our Lord, Jesus Christ.

Our Respectful Dedication . . .

REV. BROTHER B. PAUL,
F. S. C.
Principal

It is with the wholehearted assent of all concerned that we, the Editors and Staff, dedicate the 1956 "Loughlinite" to you, Brother Barnabas Paul, the principal of our school. Since you arrived here in 1954 your untiring cooperation with the student body has carried Loughlin to new heights. Under your expert guidance many new courses, which are of singular importance in

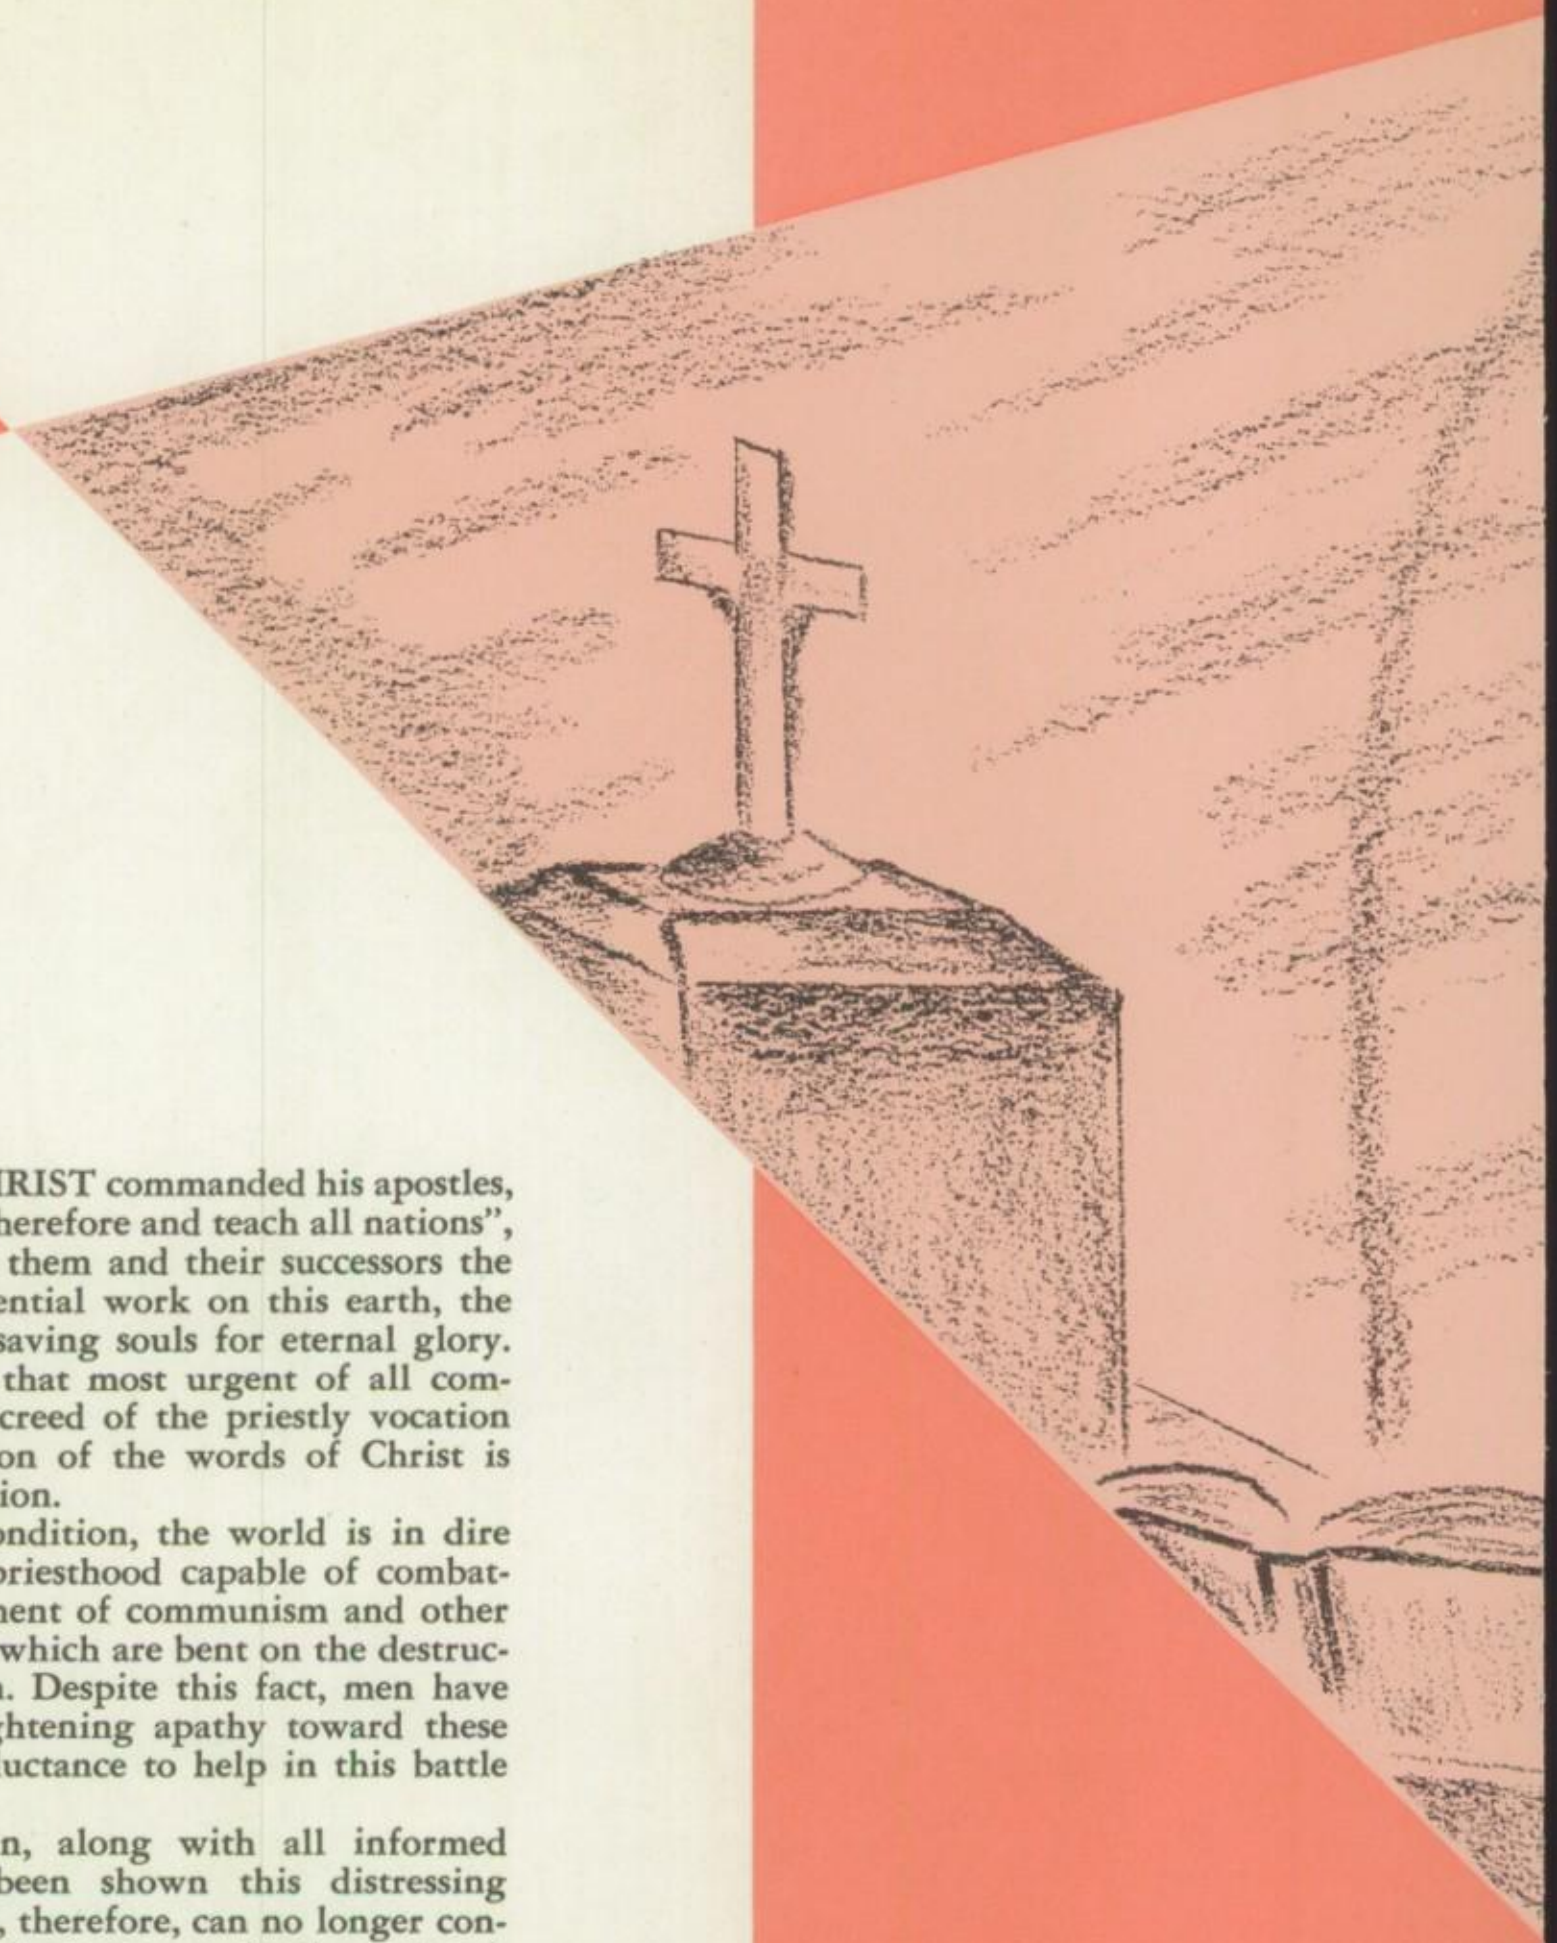
ST. JOHN BAPTIST de LA SALLE

Founder of the Brothers of the Christian Schools

SAINT, SCHOLAR, BOY EXPERT, ORGANIZER,
CHAMPION OF THE EDUCATION OF THE POOR
FATHER OF MODERN PEDAGOGY
SEVENTEENTH CENTURY EDUCATIONAL GENIUS



WHEN CHRIST commanded his apostles, "Go ye therefore and teach all nations", He gave them and their successors the most essential work on this earth, the duty of saving souls for eternal glory. To this very day, that most urgent of all commands is still the creed of the priestly vocation and the propagation of the words of Christ is still its prime function.

In its present condition, the world is in dire need of a strong priesthood capable of combatting the encroachment of communism and other totalitarian beliefs which are bent on the destruction of all religion. Despite this fact, men have shown a most frightening apathy toward these vile evils and a reluctance to help in this battle with the ungodly.

We, at Loughlin, along with all informed Christians, have been shown this distressing state of affairs. We, therefore, can no longer consider our job in this matter as simply optional, but instead as a binding duty. We must give our aid in every manner possible to overcome this ungodliness. We are bound to assist the priest in all ways imaginable even to the extent of giving our own life, not only for the safeguarding of our own generation, but also for the protection of all those who will follow us on this land of probation, earth.

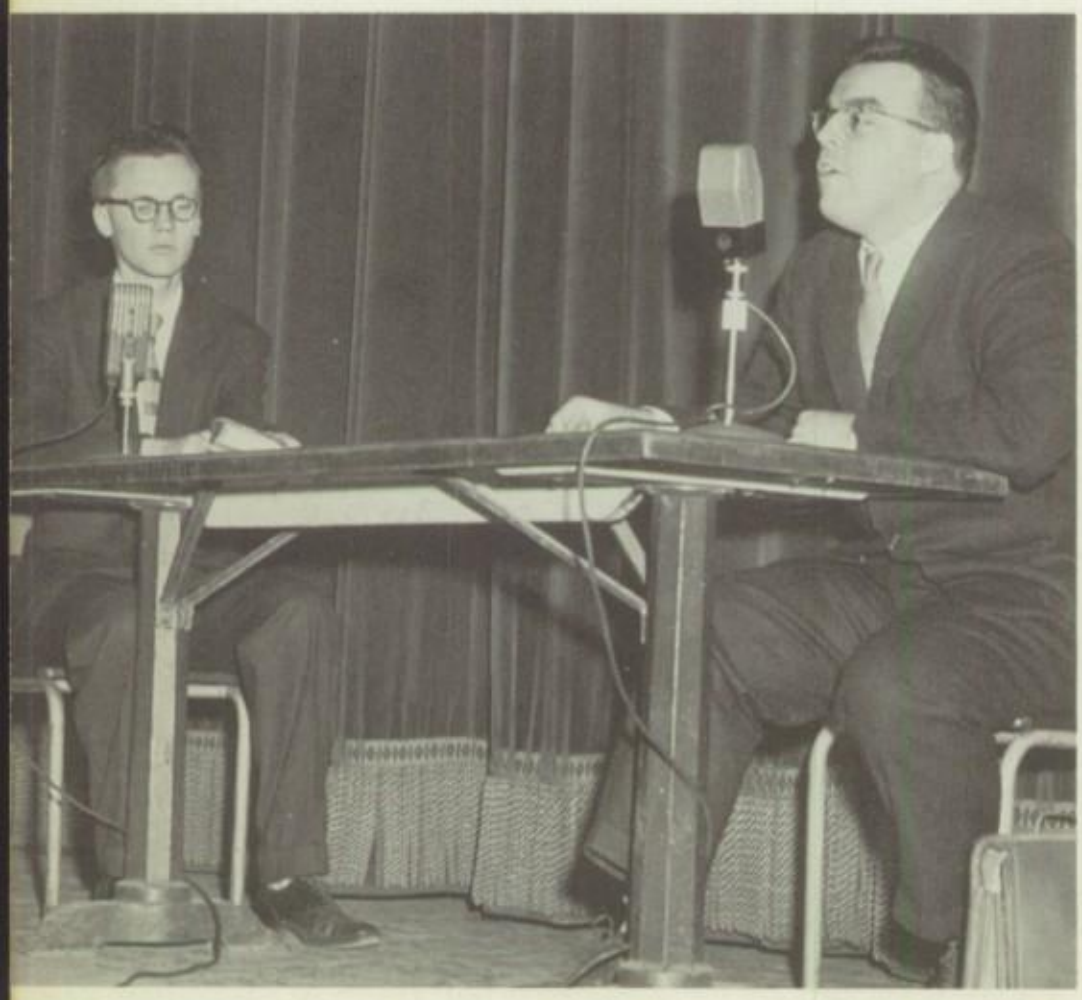
Archconfraternity of the Divine Child



T. Michalski, Mr. A. Stabile argue about the Jehovah's Witnesses.

The highlight of spiritual activities at Loughlin is the Archconfraternity of the Divine Child, which meets on the twenty-fifth of each month to discuss vocations and our duties as Catholic young men. The meeting is also a climax to a monthly novena, during which the students offer their prayers and good works for the intention of religious vocations in the school.

Each student is enrolled as a member of the organization and given a membership card. The A.D.C. offers its members many spiritual benefits, among them a special indulgence on the twenty-fifth of each month.

The monthly meetings were highlighted by outstanding speakers. Under the excellent moderation of Brother Bertin Raymund the Archconfraternity has had an outstanding year.

A. D. C. Christmas Show

A fitting climax to a week of Christmas festivities is the presentation by the student body of the annual Christmas show at Loughlin. This seasonal event, replacing the monthly A.D.C. meeting, is made up of an excellent array of Loughlin talent.

The show was initiated by Ray Stanley, President of the A.D.C., who introduced the spiritual segment. Included in this section were renditions by the glee club, orchestra and the reading of the Christmas gospel by M. Tracy. The second part of the show was begun by Santa Claus himself, who gave the usual gifts to the Loughlin faculty and student body. The rest of this segment was occupied by the Jazz Combo acting as a background for various student talent.

After the completion of the show, those who entertained could be readily assured that they succeeded in spreading Christmas cheer throughout the school.

Spiritual Activities

Rev. Brother I. Raphael F. S. C.
Religion, Sacristan

Although sports and other activities play a major part in the sojourn of a young Christian at Loughlin, the most important activities, those which help to mold a Catholic character, are the spiritual activities, which take place under the supervision of Brother Arnold of Mary. Carefully spread throughout the school year, these activities are designed to keep ever-present the religious theme which is predominant at Loughlin.

Foremost among the spiritual activities are the retreat, Triduum and the monthly Archconfraternity meeting. In addition to these there are many vocational talks by our own and by visiting Religious, in which students, unresolved concerning their vocations, are aided in making up their minds. Upon close scrutiny, therefore, it may be seen that Loughlin's spiritual activities are so designed as to keep the ideals of religion paramount in the student's mind.

La Salle Club

The newest addition to Loughlin's extra-curricular program is the La Salle Club, inaugurated in order to reward those boys who perform outstanding work during the annual Auxiliary Drive. Direction of the Club was undertaken by Brother C. Richard.

The new organization met with enthusiastic response, with this year's enrollment totaling 401 students, and representing 81 seniors, 105 juniors, 101 sophomores, and 114 freshmen. The four individuals who amassed the highest totals in their respective years became the presidents of their divisions, while those who sold the most subscriptions became vice-presidents. In addition, each class has its individual representatives. The chief benefit enjoyed by members is the reception of a major letter, which bears the distinctive design of the club.

The La Salle Club is but an outward manifestation of the spirit which underlies Loughlin. It bespeaks the many students who appreciate the splendid work and unfailing devotion of the Brothers, and are therefore willing to devote a little time and effort to help them continue their work in the best traditions of Christian education.

Debating

The popularity of debating may be attributed to the fact that many students realize the importance of the knowledge gained in debating in relation to their later lives. With the advancement of the underclassmen, Loughlin boasted one of its strongest varsity teams in many years during the present season. Under the guidance of Brother Cletus Joseph, to whom the arguments are submitted for correction in grammar, content, phrasing and diction, the students engage in various practice debates after school in preparation for the contests entered into with other schools. In these contests they achieve the recognition which has been responsible for the admiration and respect with which they are regarded at the outcome of all these debates.

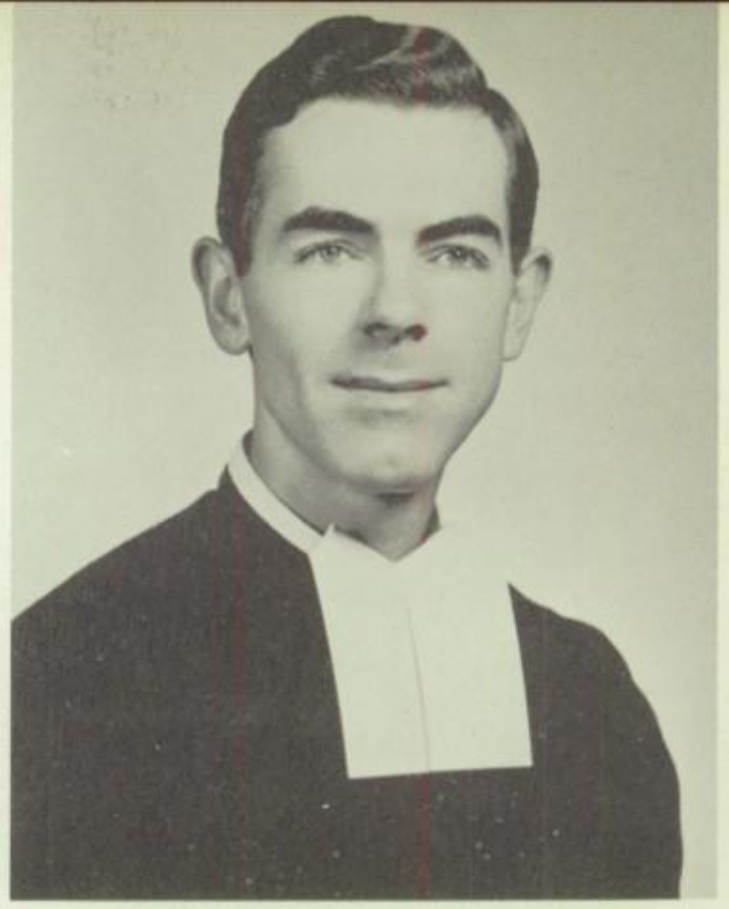
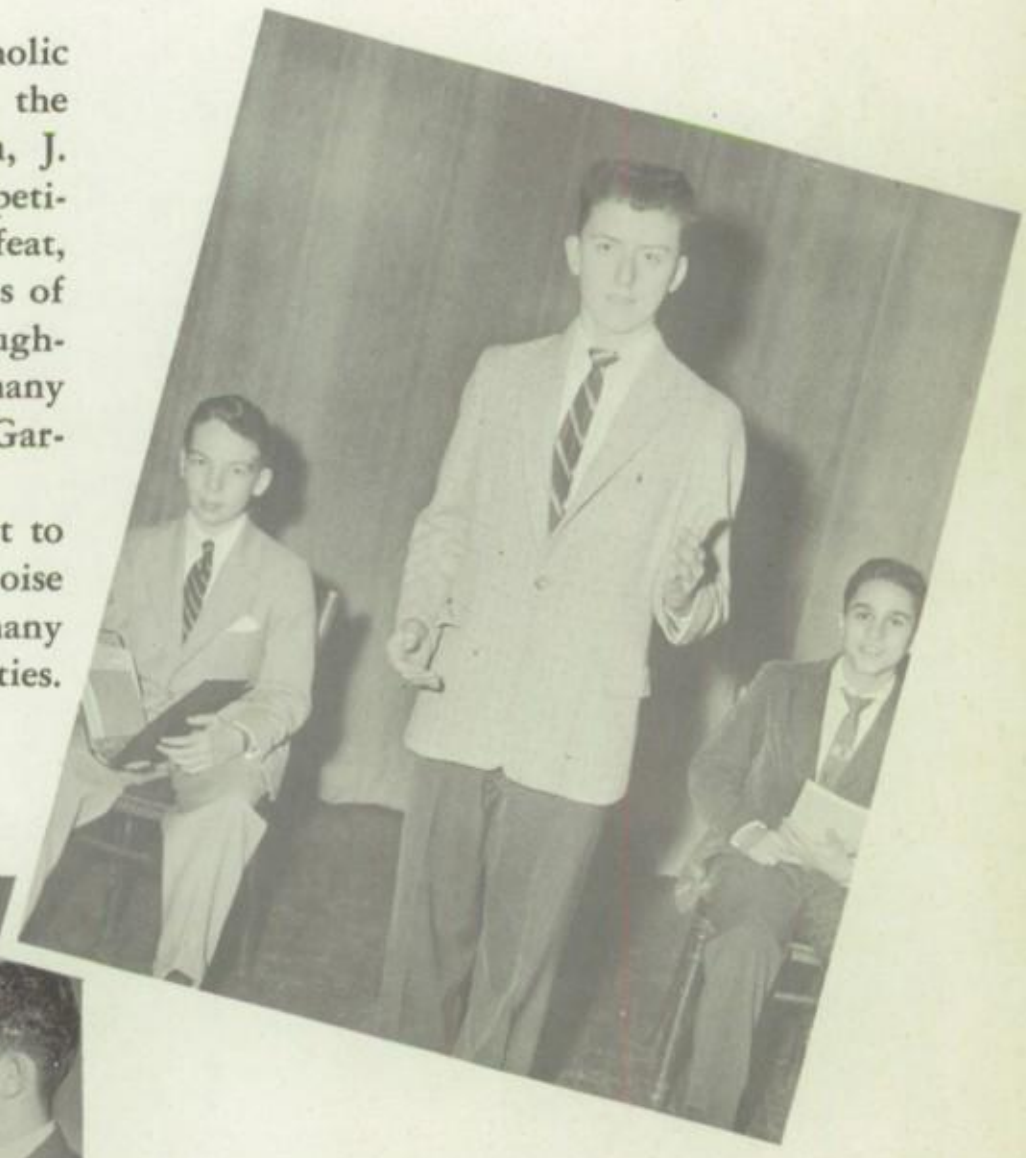
Religion, Mathematics, Science, Public Speaking moderator.



Rev. Brother Cletus Joseph, F. S. C.
Religion, English, Debating Moderator

Principal among these contests are the Catholic Forensic League and the Azarias Forensic League. In the Eastern Finals of last spring's C.F.L., W. Willigan, J. Mueller, A. Blieha, and M. Bennett qualified in competition with forty other schools, which was quite a feat, since they contended as freshmen with various grades of upperclassmen, thus demonstrating the caliber of Loughlin students. In addition to the latter, there were many other accomplished debaters, among whom were J. Garkowski and M. Ligana.

Because it builds self-confidence, helps a student to think more decisively and alertly, and lends him poise and personality, debating has been considered by many as one of the more important extracurricular activities.



J. McCourt presents his view.

Brother Joseph instructs debators.

Public Speaking

Loughlin's eloquent Ciceros gather on their appointed days to prepare and learn new speeches for the numerous oratorical contests sponsored each year by the different leagues and high schools. The boys assemble, under the guidance of Brother Raphael, to give their talks and have their weaknesses corrected. Judging from the trophies and medals which were won, this year's Public Speaking Team ranks as one of Loughlin's outstanding teams.

Among Loughlin's best orators is Raymond Russo, a student who has been highly regarded in every oratorical contest in which he has entered. Another outstanding speaker is Philip O'Mara, who garnered first place in the Catholic Forensic Contest. Among other notable members are, Thomas Fay and Martin Tracy.

Library

Every afternoon Loughlin students can be seen entering and departing from the spacious library on the second floor, one of the most outstanding features of the school. Brother Claudius William, aside from furnishing many books on various topics, has made the library a source of information for data concerning scholarship tests and methods of preparing for them. The library is very often used as a meeting place for the debating team, public speaking group and the Scholarship Club. The numerous trophies that adorn the walls serve as an added attraction for all visitors.

Once each month, the "Jamesonian" finds its way into the eager hands of Loughlinites. To some, however, it is more than a monthly proposition. On any given afternoon, Room 415 presents a busy sight, with Co-Editors Bob Eder and Joe Benkovitz scurrying about, assisted by, among others, News Editor Ken Conboy, "sportsman" Angelo LaVaglia, Feature Editor Tom Doyle and Assistant Editor Charlie Goetz. Also on hand will be found "Photog" Tom Kaczorek, copy editor Jack Lafond, and business editor Ed Currie. Finally there is the indispensable aid of Brother A. Joseph, Moderator. It is these men who make the "Jamesonian" what it is — a reflection of the true Loughlin spirit.

The last few years have brought to the Loughlin Yearbook a reputation for unexcelled quality. Each succeeding senior group has produced, under the watchful eyes of a moderator, an award-winning assemblage of the incidents and personages that comprise the memories students take with them for the rest of their lives. In view of this lasting characteristic of yearbooks, no labor has ever been withheld in the production of the Loughlinite.

This year the reins of guidance have been given over to a moderator new to Loughlin, Brother C. Paul. The former holder of the office, Brother C. Peter, has acted in the capacity of financial director and advisor. The nucleus of this year's staff is Brendan Carmody, editor-in-chief. The activities section is in the hands of J. Gallo and J. McGarry; S. Nunziata and J. Giacalone share the senior section. Sports is handled by E. O'Donnell. The persevering literary staff, composed of F. Stone, D. Schweter, S. Rizzo and A. Frazzitta, rates a final plaudit, as also do the artists, all of whom have made this year's Loughlinite a reality.

One of the most important studies pursued in an academic course is that of languages. Of the two foreign languages studied at Loughlin, Latin and French, Latin may be said to be the more important, since it is the basis of the other one. Working on this assumption, the Latin Department has made compulsory a two year study of the subect, at the end of which most students find that, as a result, their knowledge of the English vocabulary has increased considerably.

To those students who want to take a third year of Latin, the department offers a chance to achieve outstanding recognition in the Cicero Medal Examination.

Whether or not the student choose to continue in Latin, he may be considered to have a good basic knowledge of the Romance Languages.

Scholarship Club

A group of seniors, under the guidance of Brother Baldwin Peter, convene daily during their study periods. These Loughlinites are none other than the members of the Scholarship Club and their principal objective is to prepare themselves for the forthcoming college tests. In order to accomplish this task, they are encouraged to do an abundance of outside reading, including both the classics and current periodicals. By means of sample questions from previous scholarship tests, the students gain actual experience and their chances of success are proportionally increased. The exceptional results attained in former years testify to the excellent training afforded the members of the club.

Mathematics

For those who wish to enter a profession where mathematics is the predominant requisite, a higher course in mathematics is available at Loughlin. In the freshman year a course in elementary algebra is mandatory. The same holds true in the sophomore year, where all must take a course in plane geometry.

Everything changes in the third year, since the students then have a decision to make. Those who desire to go into higher mathematics choose intermediate algebra, while others may wish to pursue a course in business arithmetic. Students who desire to go further in mathematics have an opportunity to take courses in trigonometry and advanced algebra in their final year at Loughlin.

Science

In its endeavor to give its pupils a rounded academic education, the school maintains a large science department. Courses with complete laboratory programs are conducted in Biology, Physics and Chemistry to prepare students for careers in engineering and the sciences, both of which face an extreme shortage of personnel. Loughlinites are among a very small percentage of students in the United States taking all these subjects.

ON THE AIR

Holding its sessions in the Physics Lab after school, the Radio Club is designed to teach those boys interested in amateur radio the rudiments of communications along with some basic electronics necessary to obtain their amateur licenses. After attaining this, they may go on the air and secure sufficient experience and knowledge of advanced electronics to secure a higher grade license. The boys in this advanced status, under the guidance of Brother Gerard, the club moderator, devote most of their time to the operation of the school station and the teaching of new members.

Among its accomplishments, Radio Loughlin can boast of contacts with eighty-five countries and of having been active in Civil Defense Work. Besides the regular number of transmitters, receivers and some ultra-high frequency equipment at the station itself, many of the members have their own stations at home.

One of the most popular extra-curricular activi ies, and without doubt one of the most interest ng, is the Biology Club. The Biology Lab is probably the only room in the school that is so popular after dismissal.

The club, under the expert guidance of Mr. Rogers, offers to all students the chance to delve deeper into the biological field with the only requisite continued interest.

Besides the usual activities, the club also gives the more advanced members a chance to compete with other schools in contests from which Loughlinites have often emerged triumphant.

Combined, these factors make the Biology Club one of the most outstanding activities in the school.

The Glee Club

A festive mood is in the air every Monday and Wednesday afternoon when Loughlin's "songsters" gather to render their interpretations of various songs. Under the masterful guidance of Brother Alfred Edward, the Glee Club prepares numerous renditions to be sung for the enjoyment of all at its annual concert, and also at the Christmas Entertainment. This year, the Glee Club has been successfully entered in a city-wide contest at Town Hall and has also been invited to entertain many groups and organizations. Nothing but further success and esteem can be seen for the Glee Club, which promises to give endless enjoyment to all for the years to come at Loughlin.

Jazz Combo

A second extra-curricular achievement at Loughlin similar to the Glee Club has been the very, very, popular Jazz Combo. Comprised of G. DiCicco, J. Candia, J. Signorelli, N. Catalone, F. Daniele and A. Monte-Bovi, the Combo has appeared at various school functions, such as the Christmas show and the many informal dances, as well as at various other gatherings. Appealing to the "Rock 'n' Roll" instincts of the majority of people, the Combo has never failed to bring down the house.

Under the able moderation of Brother August Martin, artistically inclined Loughlinites are given an opportunity to display their talents. Meeting three times a week in the fourth floor art room, the twelve members of the club were headed this year by President John Rossi and Veep Paul Summers.

Members perform essential, although little recognized, behind-the-scenes work for such functions as the Junior Prom and the A.D.C. Christmas Show. In addition, they prepare posters announcing sports events, dances and other social affairs, as well as the monthly intentions of the Apostolate of Prayer.

When not occupied by their heavy schedule, the artists prepare entries for various contests, including the A.A.A. Safety and the Diocesan Vocation Contests. In the past, Loughlinites have achieved considerable success in these competitions.

With such a diversified, year-round program, it is not hard to see that the Art Club forms an integral part of the backbone of Loughlin.

Woodworking

One of the newer innovations in the Loughlin curriculum has been the introduction of a shop course in the everyday routine of the junior classmen. Headed by Brother Clarence William, the shopmembers learn the fundamental rules of cabinet making and woodworking, indulging in such projects as bookends, trays and a special project to be decided by themselves. Also on the program is an introduction to elementary electricity, including such things as parallel circuits, relays, and the like. The course, having been warmly received by the participants, will be expanded to meet the increased demands of a technical age.

So, that's what it is!

Mr. Moran clarifies a point.

Commercial

Many boys who attend Loughlin do not wish to pursue a career which involves the regular academic courses that are given. For these students a commercial course has been established. After a sufficient time for consideration a sophomore may choose to pursue the Commercial Course in his third year.

If accepted he studies such subjects as Business Arithmetic, typing, Business Law and Bookkeeping. In addition to these, the commercial student must also take a course in history and English. Brother Lewis, in his capacity of Department Head, gives valuable advice to commercial scholars.

It all adds up for M. Moynihan, J. McGiniss and D. Primato.

Cafeteria Staff

Twice each day, first at 11:15 and again at noon, the vast job of supplying lunch for eighteen-hundred Loughlin students becomes the task of the service squad. Under the capable direction of chef Mr. Robert Guagnini, various sandwiches, hot dishes and other foods are served.

After the food has been served, the boys then must turn to the job of putting away the remaining food, disposing of the refuse, thoroughly cleaning the kitchen for the next day and counting the final receipts.

Having accomplished all this, the boys may then rest, knowing they have done their job of supplying food for the hearty appetites of all the Loughlinites.

Bon Voyage — Students leave on Annual Washington Trip.

Each year a group of junior and senior classmen take an excursion of four days duration for an educational and entertaining vacation to the nation's capitol. Scheduled in the heart of spring, the visit catches Washington at its most beautiful and awe-inspiring season. Aside from the usual visits to the Capitol Building, the White House, Smithsonian Institute and Mount Vernon, the participants also enjoyed many extra attractions, such as the Cherry Blossoms in bloom.

Headed by Brother A. Edward, and in conjunction with several other faculty members, the Washington trip proved to be the great success that all expected it to be.

Fall Sport Hop

With Walter Leege and his orchestra supplying the music, the semi-annual Loughlin Sport Hop was held in the school gym by the student body. Regarded as one of the most important events in the Loughlin social calendar, this year's Hop was particularly well attended, over two-hundred couples being present.

Enlivened, not only by the regular band music, but also by many other novelty numbers, the Hop showed the activity common to many of the past dances.

The gala evening ended with the playing of "Goodnight Sweetheart" and the couples departed, retaining the memories of a most enjoyable evening.

Skating Party

One of the more popular events in recent years has been the Loughlin Skating Party. Held jointly with Bishop McDonnell, this year's "Skate" was enlivened even more than usual by the fact that reduced rates had been secured at "Jahns." Thus, after the arduous activity of the rink, the Loughlinites could spend the rest of the night regaining their strength for the long trek home.

Prom

Under the moderation of Brother C. Richard, the junior class held its semi-annual Prom in the school gym on December 27th. Since it came in the midst of the holiday recess, its theme naturally emphasized Christmas. Co-chairmen Charles Goetz and Walt Cadette engaged the Rhythmers, an eight piece orchestra, to provide the music for over two-hundred couples. Four faculty members, Mr. Miles, Mr. McGowan, Mr. Rusnak and Mr. Kelleher, acted as chaperons and also selected the queen and her six princesses.

Boat Ride

As a climax to a year of hard study, the students and faculty of Loughlin set one day aside for a gala excursion to Rye Beach. The books and headaches of school are left behind at the Battery, as the "Meseck" sets sail for Playland and a day of recreation. Upon arrival, many Loughlinites head straight for the bathhouses, while others are drawn to Playland's large arcade, biding their time until the opening of the rides.

Towards late afternoon many of the faithful and their new acquaintances can be seen boating on Playland's quiet lake, topping off a perfect day. At five o'clock the whistle of the steamer signals the return and the Loughlinites slowly make their way back to the city, none the worse for wear, but much happier for the enjoyment they have experienced.

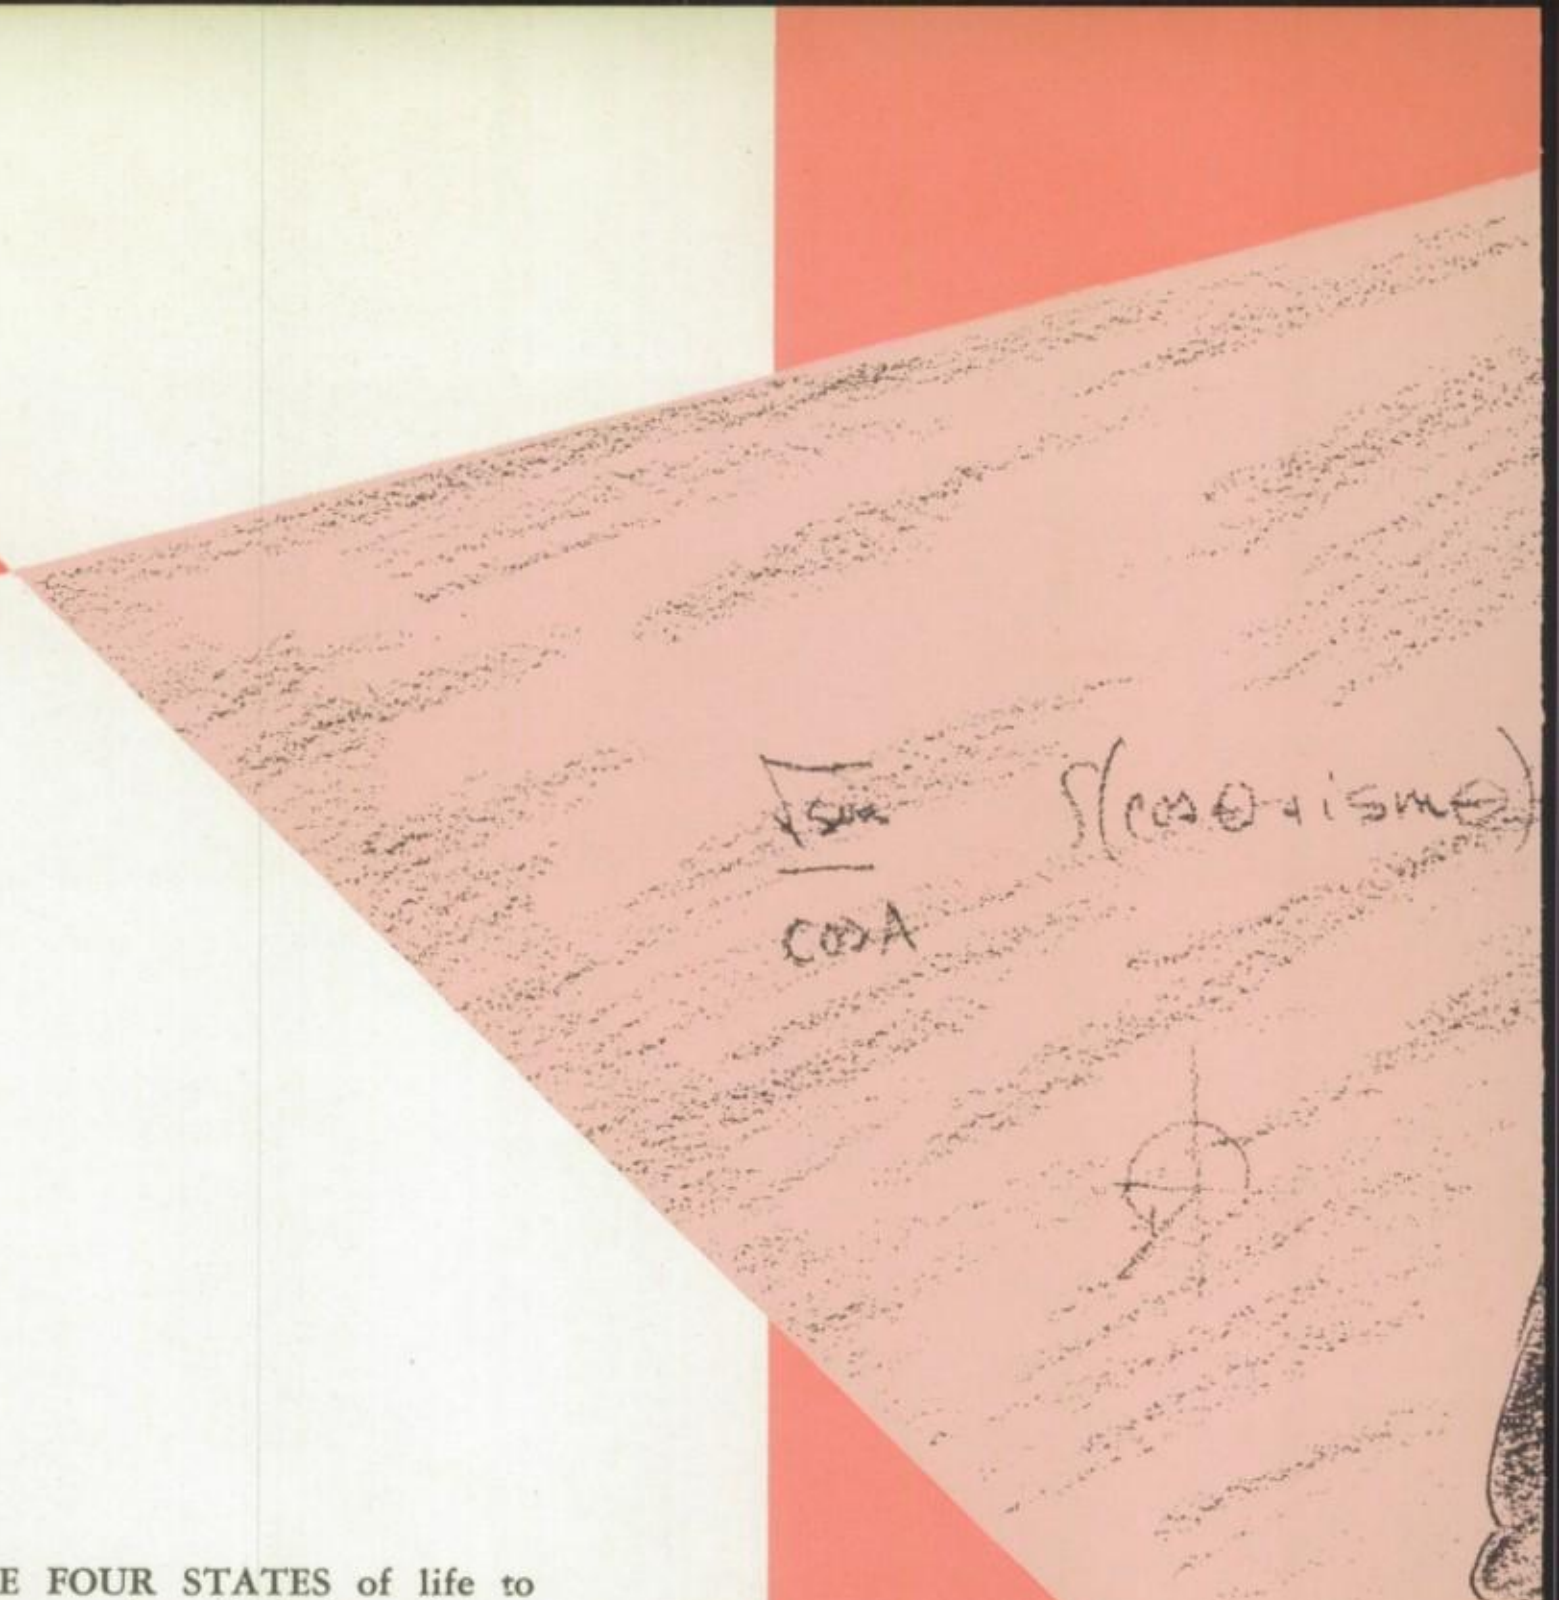
Homeward bound, ho-hum.



OF ALL THE FOUR STATES of life to which a man may be called, the religious life is undoubtedly the most perfect for the saving of his own soul. Dedicated to the leading of a life in all respects pleasing to God, the religious has the opportunity to honor his Maker in the most perfect manner possible, imitation.

Most orders of religious were instituted to fill a pressing need of their time, either to teach the poor, or to aid the sick, the orphaned or the unfortunate. To this day, the religious life is still one mainly devoted to the service of others, but above all service to God.

For a man who is instilled with the desire to dedicate his whole life to his Master and gratify Him in every action, the religious life offers such occasions in an unsurpassed abundance.

THE third of the vocations, the married state, is the type of life to which most men are called. Instituted by God in the Garden of Paradise and sanctified by Christ at Cana, the married life and its end result, the family, are the foundation of a civilization and the strength of any nation.

Knowing this, it can easily be judged that the prime duty of any man in this state is to his family. He must not only provide for their worldly necessities, but also must lay a firm foundation for their spiritual future by pointing them directly toward God and their eternal salvation.

Of course, a married man may accomplish many other deeds pleasing to God. Work in the Lay Apostolate, the Holy Name Society, or some other church activity will increase the reward of paradise, but none of these is as pressing a duty as is his obligation to see to the welfare of those under his care, for he will be held directly responsible for those whom God has placed in his trust.

Mr. William T. Miles,
Physical Education, Varsity Track Coach

Rev. Brother A. George, F. S. C.,
President of C.H.S.A.A.

Athletic Board of Strategy: Brother George (Athletic Director), Mr. William Miles, (Track Coach) and Mr. Andrew McGowan, (Basketball Coach) make plans for the department.

During the many years of its existence, Loughlin has usually been on top or near the top in any athletic endeavor in which it has participated. In all of the major sports, although not in the same degree, the teams of the purple and gold were, and are, never taken lightly. The track reputation has been one of extremely long duration, while the one of baseball, although relatively recent, is equally valued. Even in basketball, where the success has not been as pronounced, few coaches accord Loughlin anything but high regard.

The success, moreover, of the less publicized teams has been on a remarkable par with that of the "big three." In tennis, swimming and handball, the fame of each team in its respective class is outstanding. In a good school mental activity should be carefully blended with physical exercises, and from the increasingly good results of both its scholars and athletes, Loughlin appears to be achieving success.

Cross Country

As the 1955 cross country season ran itself to a close, the "hill and dalers" took time out from their rigorous schedule to look back at their outstanding achievements, which include the C.H.S.A.A. Championship for the third straight year. During this year, which was traditional of days gone by, the harriers remained undefeated, incurring but a single tie. Although the team has such outstanding runners as T. Walby, C. Goetz, and J. McGinness, it is still founded mainly on teamwork rather than on individual performance.

The J. V. has also given an exemplary performance by capturing honors in all but two meets. This was accomplished through the combined efforts of J. Corin, G. Murchie, R. Ford, T. Greene, D. Hinkley, S. Nolan, and L. Finneran.

In every meet the boys in the purple and gold uniforms reflected the true spirit of Loughlin. Prospects for next year look good. However, it is the hope of Mr. Miles that the team will continue to have the determination which has been its chief characteristic in the past.

Basketball

To fill the post vacated by Mr. Armata, the administration appointed Mr. Andrew McGowan as basketball coach. Around such stars as co-captains Bill Maloney and Ray Stanley, he has formed a squad consisting mainly of juniors and which has shown much promise for next season.

In the C.H.S.A.A. competition, St. Francis again took top honors. The Lion hoopsters placed fourth, behind Chaminade and Holy Trinity, with their 5-7 league record. Their chances were seriously hurt by the mid-season graduation of high-scoring Ray Stanley and Bob O'Leary.

At the first annual Christian Brothers tournament, held during Christmas Week, Loughlin captured second place. Another innovation was the hoopster's hop held after the game with Central Catholic of Allentown.

Track

After achieving an undefeated cross country season, the "Milesmen" proceeded to start a victorious indoor record. In the initial meet of the season, the Relay Carnival, Loughlin walked away with first honors, gaining points in the shot put, the high jump, and the relay events, with E. Rigney, V. Fragnito, and J. Scrantowitz scoring in the individual contests, while J. Horan, M. McBride, R. Merrigan and J. McGinness placed first in the relay event.

Pete Beyer first .....again.

Rev. Brother C. Anselm, F. S. C.
Religion, Latin,
Moderator of the Track Team.

Here's Charley Goetz coming in for Loughlin.

After achieving this notable success, the Lions looked forward with confidence to their own meet, the Loughlin Games. This confidence was not unfounded as they rolled to a tight but impressive first place finish, edging their nearest competitor, Boys' High, by a mere half point and their second rival, Cardinal Hayes, by the same margin. The scoring in these games was accomplished mainly by T. Walby, J. Baxter, P. Beyer, E. Rigney, T. Parolisi and the relay team of G. Murchie, R. Ford, G. Leonard and J. Horan.

A week later in the Hayes meet Loughlin ran to its third successive victory. This time they achieved a more significant margin by capturing twenty one points, six ahead of their nearest competitor. In this meet points were again donated by such consistent scorers as Rigney, Parolisi, Beyer, Baxter and the relay team of Baxter, Beyer, Ford and Parolisi, which team not only took first place but also broke the old meet record.

In other meets the team showed spark reminiscent of the great Loughlin track aggregation of several years ago which made the name Loughlin synonymous with track greatness. Even in the N.Y.U. meet, which the team lost by the narrowest of margins, the stamp of a great team showed through. Rigney, Baxter and Parolisi were again the top scorers for the "Purple and Gold".

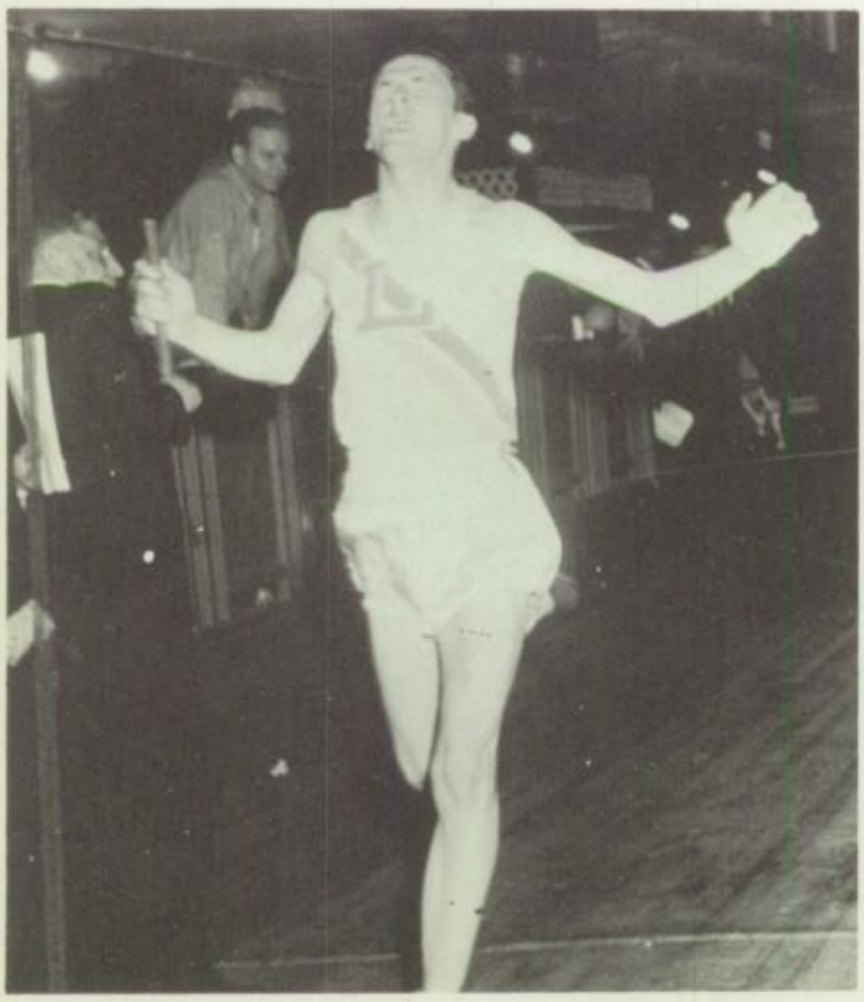
Tony Parolisi all alone on the turn.

The Winner! . . . Jim McGuinness.

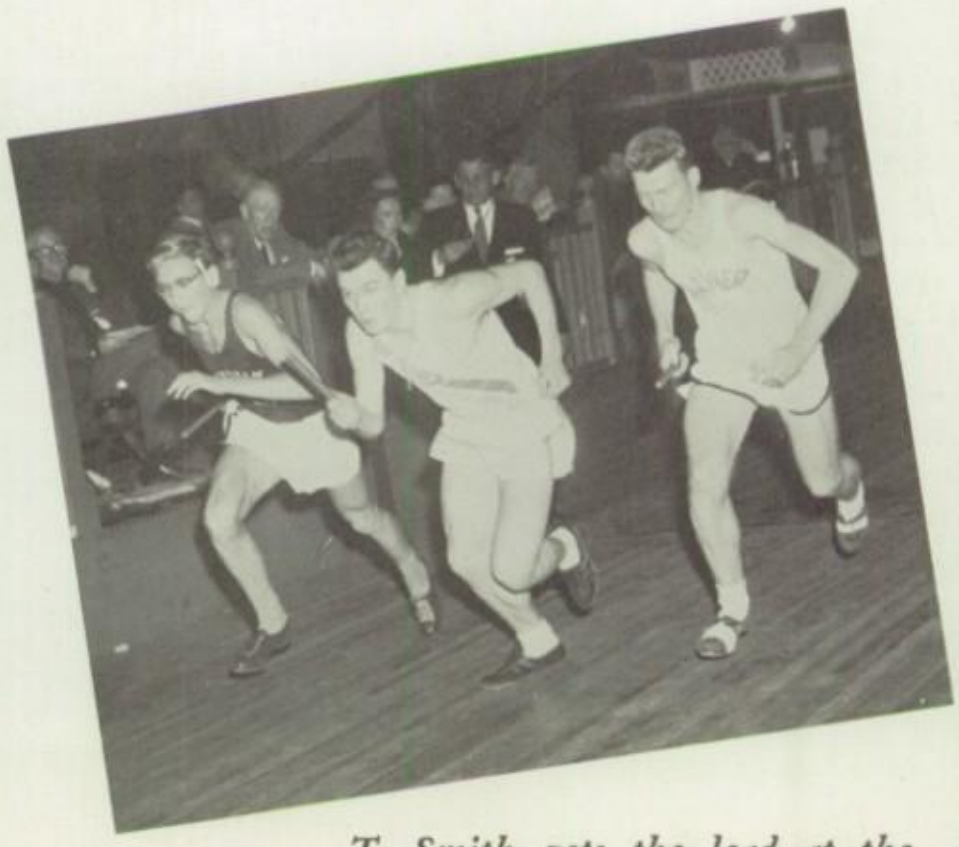
K. Goss, off with crack of the gun.

In the J. V. ranks victory was also a byword, as the junior team showed very impressively in their meets. Since many of the victors in the recent Loughlin indoor varsity meets were graduated from the J. V. only a short time before they started winning, the importance of this strong junior team cannot be over-estimated.

In all past years, when Loughlin was considered the most feared track power in these parts, their performance was directly connected with the results of last year's junior team. With the performances of our J. V. team in the past two years it would seem that the future greatness of Loughlin as an eastern track power seems to be assured for several years to come.



K. Conboy scores for Loughlin.



T. Smith gets the lead at the start.

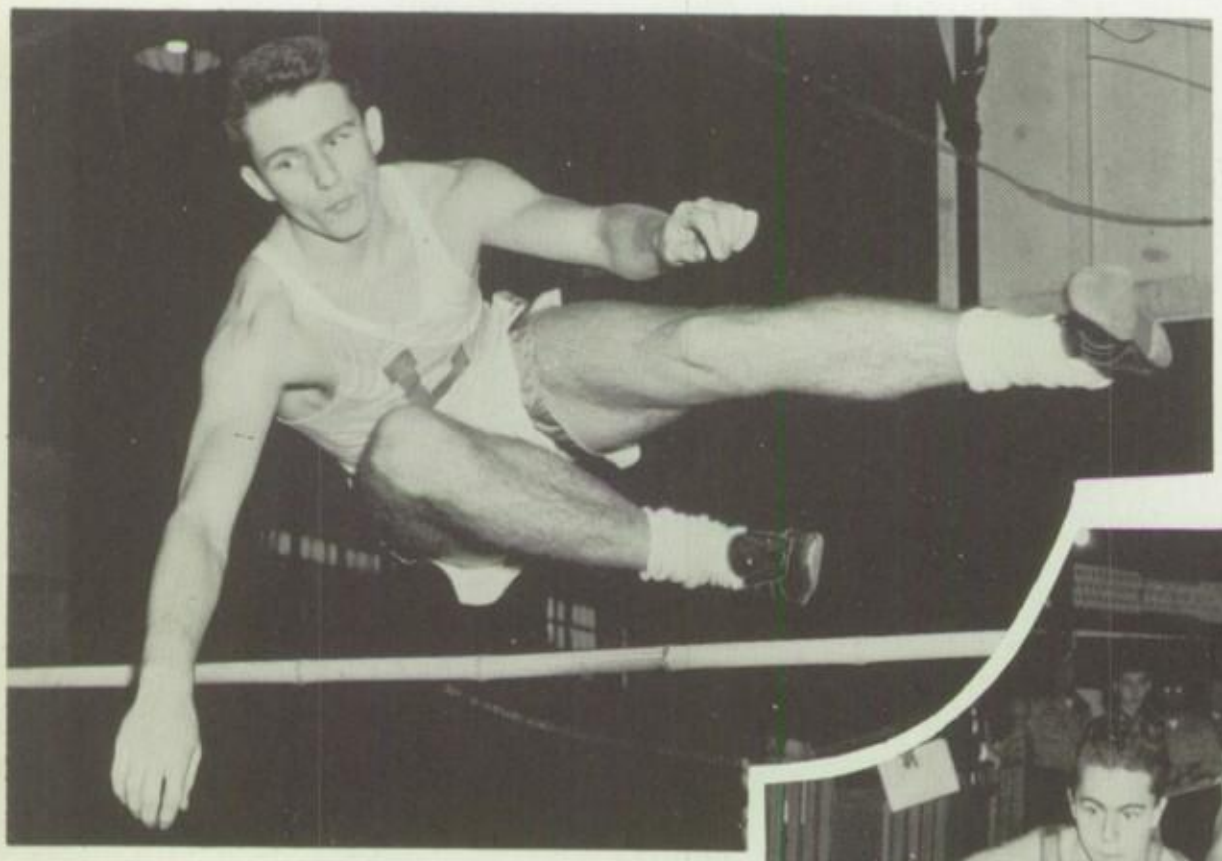
Rev. Brother Anthony Stephen, F. S. C.
Religion, Science,
Novice Track Moderator.

All these operations are accomplished under the watchful, experienced coaching of Mr. Bill Miles, guider of the track teams at Loughlin for many years. Mr. Miles has turned out many great teams in his stay at Loughlin, and I am sure he believes that this year's team is one of his greatest. Lending moral support to the team, Brother Anselm, Moderator, has been immeasurably responsible for the team's amazing success. Consoling in failure and encouraging to do better in victory, Brother Anselm has become an integral part of the team's victories.

Of course, graduation affected the team tremendously, especially in the "Catholics" Meet. The whole team, however, managed to garner 13½ points and come out in fourth place. J. Scrantowitz, 3rd in high jump; M. McBride, 4th in 50 yd. dash; A. Parolisi, 4th in quarter mile; T. Walby, 4th in the half mile; W. Hayden, tied 4th in high jump; C. Goetz, 5th in the mile; D. Langreich won the novice mile, won by Loughlin for the past three years. The experience obtained in the spring meets will enable the team to present a formidable group of top-notch athletes for the fall season.



Ray Stanley clears the High Bar.

R. Merrigan passes the baton to E. Fingerling.

Tennis

As soon as spring comes to Brooklyn there may be seen daily an exodus of racquet-laden Loughlinites bound for Fort Greene Park's tennis courts. There they spend long hours of practice under the watchful eye of Brother A. Robert, the moderator of the tennis team, who instructs the Freshmen in theory or practice or helps the other players to better their game.

Last season the team came out even, winning and losing five games. The varsity team was captained by Ron Holmberg and boasted such players as Terry and Jim McMahon, two brothers who play as a doubles team, Paul Janicke, Steve Rizzo and many other top racquet men. With the addition of the underclassmen, who moved up this year, and the remainder of last year's varsity team, Brother Robert was hoping for another successful season.

The Loughlin swimming team, headed by coach Mr. Harry Benevenuto and moderator Brother A. Edmund, had quite a successful season. Outscored only twice, Loughlin's mermen finished in third place both in the dual meet season and the Novice Championships.

The free-stylers consisted of such stars as co-captains Don Schroeder and Tom Martin, John Regan, Jerry Buckley, Eddie Eckert, Danny O'Connell, John Pfeiffer, Vinny Beck and Rick Pompilio, while Mike Mundy, Dave Ochinero, and Jack Coleman formed the backstroke squad. In the breaststroke division were Matty Mone and Frank Mugavin. The divers, Ron Woolley, C.H.S.A.A. champ, and John Magel, complete the roster. The tankmen not only had a successful season but also were able to maintain the high standards typical of Loughlin.

Handball

Paced by last year's stars, R. Ladsen, P. Greier, R. Frazita, J. Fey, H. Wenz, R. Jackowski, F. Morotto, R. Guagnini and R. Cavallaro, the handball team is looking forward with confidence to capturing the C.H.S.A.A. championship. The wallmen represent Loughlin at many dual meets with various other Catholic highs. Since Brother A. Philip has left, the moderation of the team has gone to Brother B. Victor. Hopes for this season are high, since the team has not been seriously affected by graduation. Because of this, the team stands its best chance in many years to take first in the C.H.S.A.A. games.

Under the professional coaching of Brother Lawrence and with a large number of returning lettermen, the Lions, highly regarded, won the Brooklyn Division Playoff and were barely edged in the attempt for the all-city award.

As the nucleus of the squad, Brother Lawrence had such returning varsity men as J. Witt, Captain; W. Maloney, C. Kosior, J. Hourican and T. Van Riper with such newcomers as R. Spaderford, R. Georgens, R. Russo and S. Niewierowski. With a number of these players returning next year, the dominance of Loughlin in Brooklyn C.H.S.A.A. baseball appears well established.

Twice each week, under the guidance of Mr. Bill Miles and Mr. Andrew McGowan, the freshman and sophomore classes take part in gym activities. The main duties of the students include calisthenics on the ladders and parallel bars, and competition in the high jump. These are regularly supplemented by such sports as basketball, handball and soft ball.

In order to provide for those who do not belong to a school team, there is an added intramural program embracing track and field events for the freshmen and sophomores, and bowling and basket- for the juniors and seniors.

Through both of these programs the team coaches have a chance to notice promising athletes and encourage them in their fields.

The single state of life, the last of the vocations to be considered, is perhaps the least known and honored of all, yet it is by no means inferior to the others. Numerous are the men in secular life, who have achieved success and fame through this particular state.

The single life is one in which service to others must hold a place of notable importance. Many a man has seen his life slip away, apparently wasted, because self love became the sole objective in life, when, by devoting but a small part of it to the relief of his neighbor, he might have become truly immortal.

Happiness in this particular type of life will be realized only through selflessness. By following those immortal commands of Christ, the spiritual and corporal works of mercy, true joy on earth will be found, the faith of his neighbor strengthened, and the eternal glory of his soul assured.

In Memoriam

A note of melancholy was infused into this year's senior activities by the recollection of John Willi, who would have graduated this year, had he not died of leukemia as a freshman. Although his attendance at Loughlin was all too brief, he was here long enough to impress all his teachers as a very devout young Catholic.

We may console ourselves, however, with the thought that while we leave Loughlin to enter a world of strife and discord, he left to enter one of peace and beauty.

Senior Prom

Happy couples sit one out.

Without a doubt, the most important social event in a high school student's life is his senior prom. Climaxing his final year at school, the prom has come to symbolize the epitome of social events.

Held at the Music Room of the Hotel Biltmore on January 7, the Loughlin Prom fulfilled this description to the utmost. Dancing to the music of Jimmy Caruso's Band, the escorts and their beautiful dates could wile away the evening awaiting the beginning of the program of events. This year the program consisted mainly of the traditional events familiar to all, including the highlight of the evening, the crowning of Miss Maureen Casey the prom queen, who was escorted by Tom Hogan.

The prom was concluded with the grand march and the singing of the customary "Good Night Sweetheart", thus ending that night of nights.

Graduates Begin Last Week at Loughlin

The most outstanding event in the last few weeks of a senior's career at Loughlin is his senior weekend. Commencing in a religious spirit, the weekend is initiated with a communion breakfast on the Friday before Graduation. This is followed on Friday night by the Senior Commencement Dance, his last social activity as a Loughlin student.

On Sunday he arrives in the school auditorium for the culmination of his high school life. The activities are begun by his introduction into the St. James-Bishop Loughlin Alumni Society. This is followed by the valedictorian speech, the class prophecy and the class will. Finally, the day is ended by the presentation of the various awards for outstanding work in his studies.

The close of the senior weekend marks the beginning of the boy's life as an individual and the end of his life as a student.

Senior Dance

Loughlin's gymnasium swayed as it never has before on the October night when the Ambassador Sextet supplied the music for the Senior Dance. Over one hundred and fifty scholars and their dates were responsible for this "Rock 'n' Roll" as they took a respite from their studies to display their terpsichorean talents.

Genial Brother Eugene, in his initial venture as director of senior activities at Loughlin, endeared himself to the fun-loving fourth year men by his capable assumption of the M.C. duties. All these factors contributed to make this night one to rival even the Senior Prom.

Student Council

Forming an indispensible part of Loughlin's framework is the Student Council, that organization which assists the administration in the conduct of school affairs.

The Student Council is composed of three distinct branches. The first, the executive division, consists of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, who are elected semi-annually by the seniors. The second department, the judiciary, is composed of a permanent Chief Justice and several alternating assistant justices. These men are appointed by the President and preside over the weekly assembly of the Student Court, which tries student infractions of school rules. Finally, there is the largest body, the Council, whose members are appointed by the office and help to maintain law and order in the hallways, cafeteria, school yard and elsewhere.

Members of the council are well aware of the responsibility resting upon them, that of keeping the school functioning as a harmonious unit.

Councilors in charge of Loughlin's chow line.

Lets get it over with and have a smoke.

These are the councillors who hold back the mob at dismissal.

Acknowledgments

The members of the staff of the 1956 Loughlinite wish to express their sincere gratitude to the many persons who made this publication possible. We should like to thank in a particular way:

Brother B. Paul, F.S.C., Principal, for the graciousness with which he granted necessary permissions regarding the publication.

Brother A. Edward, F.S.C., Vice-Principal, for his ever-present cooperation and extreme patience.

Brother B. William, F.S.C., for his assistance on the financial aspects of the book.

Brother A. Martin, F.S.C. and the members of his art club for their invaluable assistance.

The Moderators of Activities and the coaches of the athletic departments for their cooperation.

Progress Associates and Mr. Harvey Lawshe for their excellent planning and fine printing.

Mr. George Routolo and the Routel Studios for their excellent photographs.

To Brother C. Paul, F.S.C. and Brother C. Peter, F.S.C., for their guidance and patience during the long and arduous hours spent in the preparation of this book.
